

Ben Paulino is a long-time Kings Park resident who is married to Mary (Cookie) and the father of three children. He is President of Official Offset Printing Corp.

This is what it is all about - printing! Ben has made it a point to assist in improving the educational life within the school district. When his children were attending school he often printed material for various classes. When Carl, his third child (now an M.D. in NYC) was playing LaCrosse, Ben, at the end of the season, provided each team member with a book commemorating the season. And when the newly created Kings Park Heritage Museum needed to publish Miles Bordon's History of King's Park Ben did it with a hand shake and "pay when you can" attitude. Because of the printed book, the Museum got much needed exposure and acceptance. Ben has published 4 books for the museum with 2 more waiting in the wings.

Ben's generosity and advice has provided a sense of authenticity for all the Heritage Museum's historical efforts. What our children learn and what our seniors recall are forever given permanence because of Ben Paulino
