

Kings Park Productions

By Hunter Edmundson

Kings Park Productions is made up of a group of students at Kings Park High School who do all sorts of things for the town. It is run by Rick Holmes, the districts audio visual technician. Kings Park Productions, or KPP, takes pictures and video at everything from parades and sporting events to ceremonies and school functions. Also part of KPP is tech crew, who runs sound equipment and lighting for the school plays, and sets up a portable audio system for other things such as acoustic café, parades, football games, wrestling matches, and so on. The crew is always busy behind the scene at many events in the town, and is an important part of this town.
